Homework Booklet

Do we treat others fairly?

Acceptance – Why are people not always accepted?
Resilience – How have people shown resilience?
Segregation – What does segregation mean?
Conflict – In what ways can people be in conflict with each other?

The following activities are all optional.

Please use them as a chance to get creative, and don't be afraid to think outside the box if the mood takes you.

Completed activities can be uploaded to Seesaw or they can be brought in to school.

We look forward to seeing what you get up to!

Option One – Do something brave

It might be jumping into the deep end of the pool in your swimming lesson, or trying new food they would avoid.

Note it down and share a photo or picture.

Option Two – A respect poster

Create a poster on being respectful. This will be to remind people to treat each other with respect, no matter who they are.

What are the key messages?

What important picture or pictures will help make it effective and eye-catching?

Option Three – Profile a real-life hero

Find out about someone who is a real-life hero. This can be a person you know or someone famous.

Write about what makes them a hero, and include a picture too—this can be drawn or a photo.

Option Four – Share a festival

Maybe there is a festival that is important to you, or maybe there is one you find that is really fascinating.

Your job is to share some information about this.

It might be a poster, or maybe a short video to describe it, or maybe you will bring in some photos to share with the class.
